DJ,

It was great to speak with George. He remains a delight to me.

I want to be as open and helpful as possible so I will enlighten you to recent events.

I have been speaking a good bit with Julia and I find it great. As I wrote before it remains my hope and prayer that the tension between the two of you is replaced with a wonderful bond.

You are probably familiar with the painting she has done of the eye, of course, with a tear and a reflection of someone walking out the door. She sent me a photo of it and we discussed it a bit. We have agreed, and I have bought it. As of this morning she has the funds in hand.

We have also agreed that I will visit in a month or so to pick up the painting. That is the sole purpose of the trip. We plan to meet alone with the suggestion on the table by me to perhaps meet Leonardo. Obviously his mom needs to be in agreement with this.

I will obviously not and did not hide the fact that I plan to come, I am making no effort to imply that I will see anyone else. There is no ploy here, but an opportunity to rebuild a relationship with one of our kids and I will do what I can to make that happen. Let me remind you yet again that I am desirous of reconciliation between you and her and will do what I can to aid that and not break that. This is what love does.

Considering what has happened between Julia and I and the fact that she received funds from me this day, there is the obvious question of what inspired George to call today. He mentioned his financial need, but did not ask for my help. I did wait for him to do so, but did not offer. You probably heard this. I don't want to read into this, but I do want to make you aware of this. The timing is notable.

You should know that I am concerned that since last October the communications with the kids has been a bit bleak. There have been only three calls. One from George to thank me for the notebook and ask how to play a Blu-Ray. Once from Gloria-Jane about her tablet. And now again from George as he talks about his trip and financial need. However, a call to share life, as I so desire, is rejected. I hope you understand my concern from the perspective of a dad who is trying to rebuild his family. I made an effort to share this in the two "Kozlowski-2016-03-26" videos. However, George did state that they are not watched.

You can offer to George that if he watches the two videos and can give me any evidence that my conclusion is wrong, I will fully pay for his trip.

I am giving you this information because I love you and want to be on your side with our kids. In obedience to the Lord I am making all the effort I know how to do so. I do this with virtually no information from you, contrary to our agreement, but I will continue to try. Again, this is what love and obedience to the Lord does.

I love you and our kids and will not stop my effort to rebuild what can be rebuilt. We both are just a couple of broken people. Shall we work on this together?

I really do love you!
