DJ,

In the Lord's grace, my life has remained very busy. I take great joy in this because the alternative, to spend my time wallowing in self-pity or just waiting to die, is not a good idea. Some things have come up and I thought I would let you know.

First, my good friend Chris Prince and I had another great hike today and concluded with a smoothie. We spent a lot of time digging into the Scripture and encouraging each other to understand it and live it. He has been given an opportunity in October to spend about 5 days in a cabin. It is our shared prayer that his wife will join him for that time. However, I am the fallback. We both share the same struggle that we would rather spend time with our wives, but the Lord has granted us at least a good relationship as brothers.

Second, a lot of technical issues with delivering video on the web have been resolved. So now videos like <http://family.kozlowski.org/2017-08-13+1> play at least on Android cellphones instantly. While I don't have access to an iPhone, I do have an iPad and there are still issues that I hope to resolve shortly. I am putting together an automated process to re-encode the entire library and get the updates online. I have also resolved issued that slowed my editing of videos that I want to put on the Distinctivist site. <http://distinctivist.com/2017-04-27> is updated, and now things like the "Naming Names" (<http://family.kozlowski.org/2017-02-25>) can be finished editing to be put on Distinctivist.

My plan was to broadcast this today as described in June (<http://family.kozlowski.org/2017-06-24>). However, since the videos are now working much better, I will give it another week to be more complete before announcing more broadly. I hope you understand I have multiple purposes. I want to restore our relationship and I will pursue this wholeheartedly. I also want to encourage our kids to see grace, mercy and obedience to the Lord lived out in front of them. I hope you will join me in that. Finally, it has become clear that I must proclaim grace, in season and out of season, boldly, clearly, and often to all that will hear. What you saw me do in the pro-life days, has been amplified greatly. There is much more clarity, and I think much more grace in my work.

If you spent a few moments reviewing the family site, you might notice the magnitude of the work is significant. This is not a minor effort on my part. Please also note, no logs are kept.

You may recall that your mom stated that you could not go with me on our first date unless you were willing to marry me, because she knew I wasn't playing around. Well I wasn't then, and I'm not now. My commitment to you is total, as in "till death do us part" which is what the Scripture makes clear. You know, even though flawed, I took obedience to Christ seriously. People who know me now know that it is far more so today. We used to have 1Co13 on our wall. Verse 7 includes "endures all things". The "endures" is "hupomenō" which one meaning is "to preserve: under misfortunes and trials to hold fast to one's faith in Christ". I hope you see that being lived out in me. I'm not playing around. I am a foul man in love with his wife and seeking reconciliation. Perhaps you would consider a guy like that.

I love you,
I love you,
I love you!
