Greetings,

In the attached 13 minute video an effort is made to give examples where dialog on a noted issue is flooded with sensationalism and misinformation to turn us into mush. The point is that we do the same with the Scripture, and more often than not the perpetrators are those whose livelihood is based on our dependence on the institution rather than the Lord.

An offer is made for one-on-one dialog with the congregation, rather than the leadership. As a member of the congregation, you still have a responsibility before the Lord to follow Him. We cannot pass this responsibility to others. I am have made some claims, backed with Scripture, about the institution. If I am wrong, is there enough love in you to correct me from Scripture? If I am right, are you a member of a cult?

The offer of direct dialog is on the table. The offer is limited in that I am not trying to build an institution or a following, but point others to a direct relationship with the Lord, not through an intermediary.

There is enough evidence before you that the leadership finds the idea of a foul man trying to reconcile with them a scary thing. Why else would the police to be called to my door? Have you asked them directly, as I have asked previously? I remain more than willing for any to have a direct conversation with me, but thus far they have stayed behind their institutional fortress and turned to the state as it appears Mat 5:24, and 1Co6 is not relevant in their world. But I will continue to try. I remain willing for to fully reconcile with any.

My past is littered with an effort to have the world and the Lord. I was wrong. I am now attempting to follow Paul's model in Philippians 3 and count the world as rubbish. Consider the rest of the chapter, and I ask you to ponder if it applies in your life.

While no hope is offered in return by the institution, extended family, and those I love dearly, I will continue to pursue reconciliation, and do so openly. I do so trusting in the Lord, in obedience to Him, and in hope that others will gain from my effort. I am encouraged that this has occurred. Please encourage me if you are also one of them.

Respectfully,

Matthew 5 ²³*So if you are offering your gift at the altar and there remember that your brother has something against you, ²⁴leave your gift there before the altar and go. First be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift."*

Gentlemen, your brother has something against you.
