Family,

As I have learned about hard issues in this world and clearly addressed in Scripture, I have attempted to address those issues by living with an attitude of love and applying that as best I can. Obviously the first for me to gain a depth of knowledge was on abortion and that expanded to population control, genocide, and eugenics. My response was to commit to living open to children in obedience to the Lord's first command to man and now delight in nine children walking the earth.

As I learned about the Lord's command for the daily payday in Leviticus 19 and elsewhere, it was easy to see how most simply rationalize that as they do with the Lord's first command. I have learned it is far more complex than the simple issue and interrelated. Any study of the Federal Reserve, the Bank of England, and the Bank of International Settlements, all of which are private institutions, should remind you of Jesus taking the whip to the money changers in the temple. These people have issues and remember Proverbs 22:7 "The rich rules over the poor, and the borrower is the slave of the lender." I think this is all the more heinous when it is vapor-debt, where they provide you funds made from thin air and charge interest on it.

I have also learned, perhaps too much, about abject slavery and how rampant it is today. As a highly addicted chocolate lover, this was my primary entry into the study of the subject. It was an eye-opener to see how large corporations simply don't care. This is characteristic of any institution as it is an entity and does not have a soul. While Mars, and Hersey's have committed to eliminate slavery in their supplies by 2020, Nestle is committed to addressing it by then. Do you see love in any of that? I often walk by the Mars plant here in Cleveland and it sickens me.

Over time I learned about slavery in fishing, farming, organ harvesting and sex. This is not my focus in life, but it keeps coming up, and when you see a face attached, it rips your heart out, which has happened too often. I consider Ephesians 5:11 "Take no part in the unfruitful works of darkness, but instead expose them." Part B is something I do occasionally for this subject as I am now, but part A is something I think we must all do always. I do that by no longer buying chocolate, or any other product, from the chocolate providers involved in slavery. For similar reasons I avoid brands like Chiquita as mass murder seems unacceptable. This is also a primary reason why during harvest time I make my weekly 6 mile hike to the farmer's market to buy food from the people who grow it in the ground rather than an indoor factory in China.

Consider the discussion in the video and then consider Matthew 5:39 "But I say to you, Do not resist the one who is evil. But if anyone slaps you on the right cheek, turn to him the other also." Now try to work out how you would apply this in obedience to the Lord. It is not an easy question. Try anyway.

Please note that the attached video is a hard and serious topic. I try to use milder words, but the subject matter is difficult.

To George, Susanna, Gloria-Jane, Walter, and Zadok,

I am asking each of you to watch this video. I am further asking that you respond to me individually with a short note about the video. If you want to dialog via email or phone, that would also be great.

To be clear, I am asking for this of you specifically in order to expand the library of evidence that you are being kept from me in violation of the law of the Lord and the law of the state.

This is allow you, sometime in the future, to know that your dad attempted all the days of his life to reach you, to reconcile the family, and to follow the Lord.

I love you all, and really hope to hear from you!
