Subject: More on Higher Education

George, Susanna, Gloria-Jane, Walter, and Zadok,

I have been in dialog with Tirzah and the subject is not the point of this email. However, I concluded the last email with a few things I desire that she consider as she is pursuing "higher education". This question is in your future. Please consider what I wrote to Tirzah. As always, I welcome dialog.

You might also want to review the email I sent in January to you at <http://family.kozlowski.org/Email-2018-01-13+1>. It was also on the same subject.

With much love from your dad!

I am further asking that you respond to me individually with a short note. If you want to dialog via email or phone, that would also be great.

To be clear, I am asking for this of you specifically in order to expand the library of evidence that you are being kept from me in violation of the law of the Lord and the law of the state.

This is allow you, sometime in the future, to know that your dad attempted all the days of his life to reach you, to reconcile the family, and to follow the Lord.

I love you all, and really hope to hear from you!

Tirzah,

I'm pleased for you that things have worked out.

Please allow me a moment of being a dad, since I do subscribe to Deuteronomy 6.

Learning calculus is great and knowing about derivatives can be useful in many fields. You might want to also know another form of derivatives, which is used in the financial community. This is assets derived from other assets, or in simple terms, fraud. The current world holdings is measured in hundreds of trillions of dollars and around 2020 is expected to exceed a quadrillion dollars. This is the world being thrust upon you, and it is based on deception.

The entire monetary system is smoke and mirrors. It is not hard to find information on how banks create money out of thin air and loan it at interest. This is why they are the ones with the big buildings everywhere. They can build things with no money and never pay.

The US banks submit to the Federal Reserve, a private corporation that in turn submits to the Bank of International Settlements, another private corporation. Is this whom you also want to submit to? Is it part of that quadrillion that is being dangled in front of you?

They need to keep you as a debt slave (Proverbs 22:7) and I suggest it is unwise to give them that power. The mortgage system is the largest system of enslaving people in debt, but closing fast is borrowing for education, as in exactly what you are doing. It does not take much research to see that for the majority of graduates, this has proven to be a very bad investment.

Why are you getting an education? Clearly I haven't heard from you directly, but I can assume that you want the credentials to obtain a certain position or status in life. You might also want to study a bit of history. Why do we have the "higher education" system? It is to build doers, not thinkers. To control by accreditation. They specially want you to know how to do things to fill positions, but not understand why. This has been written about for over a hundred years. Why would those in the "higher education" system not point that out to you? Is it naivety or self-interest?

Remember the question I asked you many weeks back about "why is a byte 8 bits". This was the point behind the question. It is my hope for you that you will know more "why" than "how". That you will be able to reason things through based on evidence and logic, not simply follow directions. I'm tempted to dwell on 2Tim3:16 or 1Pet3:15, but I'll resist.

I have spoken with several students here at Lee University and find that indeed the majority want the credentials to be able to do work that is comfortable and lucrative. May I suggest it gives an opulent but wasted life! Please use the life the Lord gave you well.

In an effort to prepare my kids for their lives I made an effort to tell them about my history which includes many successes and failures. It is a video titled "A bit of my history - You cannot serve God and money" and is online at <http://family.kozlowski.org/2018-01-15+1>.

A point you need to take away from this is that all the big moments happened to someone without credentials. Yes, I am above average when it comes to computers, and math, but what got me to those places is not intelligence or credentials, but knowing why things are the way they are and then being able to apply that knowledge. You are my kid. I think you have the ability to do the same. Please pursue why more than how.

Please allow me to also give two examples. A few years back an opportunity was presented to me for a lucrative position in Chattanooga doing license plate reading software. This would have been easy, comfortable, and probably a steady long-term relationship if I kept my mouth shut (remember Westar). I declined immediately because, I wholeheartedly embrace Leviticus 19:18. I know that is Old Testament and it seems to be ignored in the institutional church, but I try to follow it, and all the more in recent years.

In a conversation with an older gentlemen in our extended family I was told that I was wrong to decline this opportunity because it could have served my family well and our government can be trusted. I suggested otherwise and as normal he left the dialog. However, you have or had photos of my mom, your grandmother. Remember that she served the German military in the 1930s and 40s. The majority of institutional church at the time embraced the system. There were issues. This is an understatement. Please note that it was not just the "evil Nazis" but also the Allies who committed atrocities beyond measure, and both on behalf of the banking community. This gets us back to that quadrillion thing again.

Study Operation Paperclip and it will give you a strong hint that the idea that we are the Fourth Reich is more than a novel idea. Review the idea of democide and know that our government has been and continues in that venture. Also remember that vital point, when it comes to killing foreign “innocent” parties, the US alone vastly out does Hitler, Stalin, and Mao combined. No, I’m sorry but I will not submit to being part of that system. Please consider this before you get tangled up in it.

A side note on that, have you ever noticed how much your dad looks like Josef Mengele?

The second point is from a different extreme and it happened Friday. It was mentioned in voicemail #401 to your siblings (<http://family.kozlowski.org/Voicemail-2018-05-04>) and you can read about the events. The point is that what the Lord allowed me to do in less than an hour was to love someone I have never met, and they will probably never know what was done for them. There were no big bucks involve, no fanfare, but an opportunity for me to attempt to fulfill that Leviticus 19 thing again. It is my hope that your studies, your preparation, is more toward knowing how to love than to have credentials. Please don’t buy into the idea that having credentials will allow you to love more. That idea is bogus.

I’m sorry I got long. I really am pleased that things have worked out for you. I ask you consider what I wrote. And because it became so detailed, I will share it with your younger siblings, but skip the earlier emails.

Please know that I am here and will not close my door to you. Dialog is always welcome. I know that is not the model of others in our family, but then again Leviticus 19 comes back to mind.

I love you Tirzah!
