Gloria-Jane,

Happy birthday my girl. I am doing something a bit odd for me, I am early. A low resolution copy of a video is attached, but the links for the higher resolution one is below. It does have tomorrow's date on it, but I did it today. It is because of what happened today.

It is my hope you will see my love for you in the video, the satire (it is from your dad), and the serious concern.

As I describe in the video, I had a brief encounter with a young lady today who is only a few years older than you. There was something clearly amiss with her and I wasn't sure why. After visiting some Mormon friends, then some other friends who have had a vast array of chemically induced experiences that I have not known, they quickly stated that I was describing a woman who was using heroin. They could describe it from experience.

I can tell much of the history of how Bayer developed heroin about a hundred years ago and it was marketed by them in the US as a non-addictive pain reliever and suitable for children. I can tell you a bit about how the first and second opium war was used to devastate China and now with synthetic opium we seem to be in the third opium war but this time Europe and the US are the losers. While I have seen many who were under the influence of strong drugs, I do not have the experience to say what or why. My friends do and they were clear and could give details.

I am also vaguely aware of some issues within my family and want to offer hope and encouragement when things are not ideal. But the hope I bring is from a follower of the Lord Jesus Christ, and will point to the Christ of the Scripture, not the one described in the Talmud or the Quran. This is the only place truth is found, hope is found, and love is found. I have no reason to think you see that in North Carolina, but want you to know it exists.

When I looked into the eyes of the young lady at Publix today, all I could think of is I have young girls of my own. Do any of them have the hope in Christ that will sustain them or will they be like this young lady before me today? I want to shout from the rooftops that for you, for your sisters, for your bothers, for your mom, and for extended family and friends, I am available and so desire to celebrate the love of the Lord Jesus Christ with you all.

It is my hope that your trust is in the Lord and not the institution. It is my desire to see you find the Lord's grace in your life. It is my joy to call you my daughter.

Happy Birthday Gloria-Jane! Your dad loves you!
