Julia and Family,

While you might have been the first of our kids to be born at home, which is a fond memory, what stands out in my mind about you is the moment a few years ago when I visited North Carolina and that first hug. It wasn't brief, and the lady behind the counter at the hotel noticed. Other things are mentioned in the video, but that moment remains a focus in my mind when I think of you, and I do think of you often with much fondness and love.

There are other things mentioned, but really it is all about the hug!

I love you all!
