ErikaLeigh,

You obviously are getting the traditional and well-loved singing of “Happy Birthday to you”, as I know the world thirsts for. OK, perhaps an exaggeration.

You should also have in your possession the finest selection from Dadmark Cards.

But you are still my kid and I still love you. So what is offered is a moment of levity, and then a bunch of serious dialog. We are not living as little kids, but need to deal as adults. Yes you can see a paraphrase of 1Co 13:11 in that. What you can see in the video is an attempt to reason, but not a fluffy please, please, please... If what I said is true, then what you have is an act of love toward you. If my foundation is false, ignore me.

Since I mentioned my video ‘My “Unplanned” night’ (<http://kozlowski.org/2019-09-30+1>) I watched it. The last minute remains very emotional for me. I remain so much in love with your mom.

If you didn’t find my card in your mailbox, the image is online at: <http://family.kozlowski.org/2020-03-22+2>, as well as the video.

I love you, ErikaLeigh. And I won’t play at it.
