Family,

The attached video was done this morning and as I was walking down the driveway for a hike, I realized I didn't send it. I should have considering the email I received when I got home.

I hope you find this one worth considering. I have engaged others on the subject and would delight in engaging my family. But the subject requires faith in the Lord and love for others to truly engage in. Are you willing?

Considering the email I received, I do have some writing to do tonight, so I will leave with the typical please tell my wife I love her.

I love you all.
