Family,

I have been observing the general difference is reaction to the Panic-Demic from the world versus the Christian community. What seems to be is none, with the possible exception of an occasional lip service.

The analogy I see is just how cheap big screen TVs have devastated the drive-in and movie theaters. The yielding to drive-in services or stay at home live streamed services will not be the cause but only accelerate the decline of the local institutional church. Why listen to the local folk, when we can hear a dynamic nationally known speaker and singers with great talent? We don't have to bother dealing with those annoying people, don't have to dress up, and don't have to be robbed in the tithe. No one will challenge us, since they probably didn't anyway, so we lose nothing and can still beat the Baptists to the restaurants when they open again, if ever.

Then there is the example I gave in the video.

I love you all, notably on that list is my wife!
